1. Wine Storage

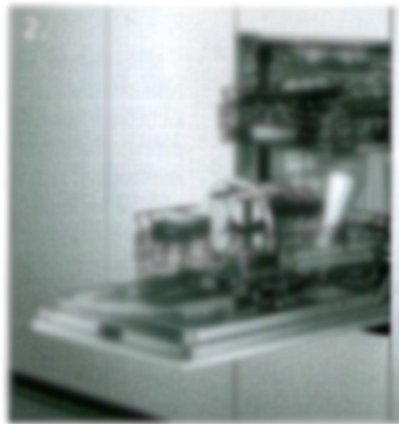

Sub-Zero has introduced three new widths to its line of wine storage options. Along with the original 27-inch-wide design, the company offers a larger 30-inch option and smaller 24-inch and 24-inch varieties to ensure a better fit in the kitchen. The units have UV-resistant glass and LED lighting to protect wine from light, a quiet compressor, and full-extension interior racks to keep the bottles from vibrating. The wine storage appliances can connect to a home's security system, will alert the owner if there is a power outage, and offer an accessory lock for security. A life inventory system helps owners keep track of wine, and there are additional storage options for dessert wine and cooler bottles. For more information, circle No. 850

2. Handleless Dishwasher

A new 24-inch-wide handleless dishwasher from Gaggenau provides clear lines and sleek surfaces. The DF 690/691's push-to-open system enables it to be completely concealed behind a furniture front, providing a streamlined look. The dishwasher's rack system offers smooth gliding rails and self-closing racks, an LED-lit interior, and eight program settings, some of which are sensor-controlled, which can be combined with up to six cycle options, such as power or intensive. 3. Custom-Color Ranges

Italian appliance company SME has launched a Custom Color Program for ranges and hoods in the Majestic and Nostalgie Series. The lines are now available in 213 RAL Classic colors, resulting in more personalized options than before (Majestic has seven standard colors and Nostalgie has eight). SME ranges come in six sizes—30-, 36-, 48-, 48-, and 48-inch models, with a 24-inch option in the Nostalgie line—and customers can choose between single and double ovens. This access can be colored in brass, chrome, or oil-rubbed bronze. For more information, circle No. 852

4. Italian Ranges

Viking Range's Tuscany line of Italian-inspired ranges is manufactured in the municipality of Scandicci, Italy. Ranges are available in 36-inch and 48-inch widths in various configurations, and color finishes include dark blue, stainless, graphite black, and antique white. Matching ventilation hoods and dishwasher panels are also available. The burners are able to boil water fast and provide a simmer, the company says, with high burner ratings from 8,500 Btu to 20,000 Btu. Products come with a three-year warranty.
