BEAUTY ON A BUDGET

A young, active mother of two with a busy work schedule had finally had enough of her outdated and nonfunctional kitchen, so she laid down the law with her husband: remodel or look for another house. Because no real footprint modification could take place, the designer turned to creativity, color, and careful choices to save.

To help the budget, the homeowner helped with demolition. The designer used three cabinet colors, but she chose one countertop to unify the space. She installed the cabinetry all the way to the ceiling, added a custom hutch, inserted a microwave drawer in the peninsula, and used a counter-depth refrigerator for a built-in look. Open wine storage, can lights, and under-cabinet lighting add custom appeal.
